

Shhh...Simmi is Listening

Author: Aparna Kapur
Illustrator: Swati Agarwal

Level 1

Simmi knows Lolo very well.
She even knows Lolo with her eyes closed.

She knows if Lolo is nearby.

HELLO!

HELP!

She knows if Lolo is far away.

She knows where Lolo is hiding

HEE HEE!

She knows when Lolo is scared.

HAS IT GONE?

And she knows when it is not Lolo!
Simmi knows Baloo with her eyes closed too!

BHAOO BHAOO!

How does Simmi know so much about Lolo without looking?
Everyone, including Lolo, sounds different depending on where they are.

A colorful illustration of a child's play area. The background is a light blue, textured surface. In the top left, there are four small orange fish and a yellow and black bee. In the top right, there is a blue cone with red string and a red U-shaped object with yellow hands. In the middle right, there is a green U-shaped object with yellow hands. In the bottom left, there is a pink girl with pigtails and a red dress. In the bottom center, there is a grey squirrel. In the bottom right, there is a green bush. The text is centered in the middle of the image.

Voices become softer as people move further away and louder when they come closer.
Voices also sound different when we're trying to be quiet or loud,
and if we talk in a small,
empty space or into a blanket.
